“Moving Matters...Global Perspectives”

Conference sessions and activities will give us all the opportunity to “move” beyond the borders of sport and our part of the world as we reflect on, engage in scholarly activities and experience movement forms and activities from local, national and international perspectives!

Keynote Speakers

Christine Shelton, a professor of Exercise and Sport Studies at Smith College who has traveled the world to promote sport and physical activity experiences for girls and women and one from

Carole Oglesby who has also been an amazing pioneer and trailblazer with her advocacy for physically active girls and women around the world.
